the sales and use tax area, the severance tax and certain miscellaneous taxes."

Smith said he requested that the committee authorize the hearings because "it is quite apparent we'll be faced with a large number of tax bills."

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swifton said Tuesday that the state would gain $30 million in revenue annually by ending the use tax exemption enjoyed by public carriers, public communications companies and public utilities.

The study proposed by Smith apparently would try to determine whether large revenue increases would be possible by ending such exemptions.

The Senate passed two House appropriation bills Wednesday, one providing $491,510 for expenses of the session and $49,500 appropriation for the publication of the 1969 acts and the acts of the two special sessions in 1968.

The House also passed a $313,950 appropriation measure to defray Senate expenses.

The Senate adjourned until 10 a.m. today and the House adjourned until 10:30 a.m.

Speaker Hayes C. McClellin of Texarkana said since there was little business on the calendar, the lower chamber would attempt to finish its business for the first week of the session today and return to work next Monday.

Pension Plea Held to Be Incorrect

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The former director of utilities for the state Public Service Commission was informed Wednesday by the attorney general's office that he could not draw retirement benefits from the Quasi-Judicial Retirement System.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Henry Ginder said in the opinion that M. C. Michell, the former director, could, however, transfer his years of service under the Quasi-Judicial System and retire under the state Employees Retirement System.

Michell had originally qualified for a $6,000-a-year pension under the Quasi-Judicial System, passed in 1965, for his 27 days of service on the Commission.

One of the provisions of the act made Michell eligible for the pension because of the term on the commission.

State Auditor Jimmie Jones said Michell, 73, left the Public Service Commission Nov. 1. Jones said Michell had applied for his benefits and had been paying five per cent of his salary into the system since 1965.

Ginder said an amendment attached to the original act in 1967 made Michell ineligible for the pension. The amendment said no one could receive the pension who had been a member of one of three commissions covered by this system less than 10 years.

a better hometown, Mayor Douglas said that while he had given a great many years of his time to community affairs, he did not regret the demand that had been made on his time, and that he wished more citizens would take an interest in the City's continuing problems.

Retiring Mayor Donald Parker, Directors Bill Wray and Jack Garner expressed their appreciation for having worked with the 4 remaining members on the Board and expressed their best wishes for success to the new Board of Directors. The members of the Board of Directors serve without pay.

The new Board authorized the replacing of two patrol cars in the Police Department and a replacement of the first aid vehicle operated by the Fire Chief. In other action the Board approved the nomination of Floyd Young, Jr. to serve as a member of the Planning & Zoning Commission.

The Board authorized the City Manager to accept a proposal from Gunter Lumber Company for the merchantable pine timber on the airport property at a price of $50.00 per thousand. It was estimated that 75 thousand feet of timber could be removed, using selective cutting that will provide for future timber growth on the property. The Gunter Lumber Company had, as a part of the offer, agreed to purchase an estimated 15 thousand feet of hardwood timber at a price of $15.00 per thousand.

The Board adjourned, to meet again on January 28, the next regular meeting date, at which time it was hoped Forrest Singleton would be out of the hospital and able to attend as a member of the Board.

SOIL-WATER

Board, Solomon Goodlett was an address by Kenneth E. Grant of Washington, D.C., who was serving his first day as administrator of the Soil Conservation Service.

Grant recognized Arkansas as the first state having a conservation district enabling act and commended district supervisors for their visionary approach to conservation problems on a rural-urban partnership. He also lauded Arkansas' success in establishing multi-purpose watershed and resource conservation and development projects.

Einar L. Roget, SCS state conservationist, told the group of supervisors and guests that the unique partnership between Federal, State, and local government is the key to the success of the soil and water conservation movement.

He explained the Federal Government's role in developing programs of financial and technical help to districts; the State's role in providing a legal basis for district work along with financial support; and the district's role in "providing the voice, the vehicle, and the program needed and desired by the local people to deal with their resource problems."

Television and Radio

By CYNTHIA LOWRY
AT Television—Radio Writer

NEW YORK (AP)—During an awkward moment when it was important to say something light and merry to lead to a station break, "Music Halls" star Jack Jones suggested that he and his guest artist play a game called "Television."

"First we sing a song, and then there's a commercial," explained Jones in one of those naked moments of truth—and off we went to a mayonnaise pitch.

It should be noted that in television there usually is time for two songs or a song and a comedy
sketch between commercials.

On dramatic shows, the commercial break often seems to be worked out as carefully as cliff-hanger conclusions to soap opera episodes: Our hero steps into the hot noon sun of the Cowtown main street and there stands his arch enemy hand reaching for his gun—and we fade right into the automobile sales talk. Or the clever international spy is intentivly rifling the bad guy's safe when the bad guy appears, gun in hand. And on comes the cigarette spiel.

None of these interruptions is quite as annoying as those that turn up in small bunches during old feature movie broadcasts.
Motion pictures, of course, were made for theatre audiences and without any regard for pausing every 15 minutes or so for some messages. So the messages are inserted, sometimes brutally, when the time—not the story line is right.

Wednesday brought a rather quiet, relaxed evening of television viewing. "Daktari" sang its swan song, departing CBS as it arrived, with Judy the chimp and Clarence the lion the real stars.

"The Virginian" on NBC devoted its 90 minutes to an involved tale that could easily had been adapted to "Peyton Place.
The white-hat ranch hand killed a black-hat trespasser in self-defense, then worried about it until, near the end of the show, a second shoot-out justified his act.

Like "Bonanza," the series presents the Old West and its men and women in such a sweet light. In the last episode the saloon girl was, as she often is in Televisionland, a nice kid, and something of a heroine as well.

Jones, this week's "Music Hall" topliner sang nicely but there was plenty of built-in trouble with your cologne and does not stain bed linen or night clothes.

Baby Cream Rubs In

Don't disillusion the bridegroom by going to bed with an obvious and messy night cream. But don't neglect your skin either. Try a baby cream which rubs in so that it is not visible. It keeps your skin smooth and soft, has the advantage of not competing with your cologne and does not stain bed linen or night clothes.

FASHION IS WHERE YOU FIND IT. Elaine Hood, a senior at Kansas State College in Pittsburg, models her latest creation, a jacket made of the plastic rings that hold beer six-packs together. The rings are fastened by yarn, which also forms the collar and front of the unusual garment.

Arabs Plan to Tighten Their Boycott

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

The Arab states plan to tighten their 16-year economic boycott of Israel and foreign firms that do business with the Jewish state, a spokesman said Tuesday.

But he did not announce what action would be taken.

Mohammed Mahjoub, commissioner general of the Arab League's Boycott Israel movement, said in Damascus, Syria, that measures "to plug the gaps in the siege" are in the offing.

He said they would be approved at a conference in Qatar Jan. 20.

Currently on the Arab black list are firms that have main or branch factories in Israel; firms that hold shares in Israeli businesses; firms that render contractual or technical aid to Israeli industry; firms searching for natural resources in Israel; banks that do more business in Israel than in Arab states, and those that give the right to use names, trade marks or patents to Israeli concerns.

Shipping and air lines are blacklisted if they carry Jewish immigrants or military cargo to Israel. The boycott regulations also apply against film stars and movie companies that are deemed to serve Israeli propaganda or financial interests.

America's Ford Motor Co. and Coca Cola are on the black list. To avoid a similar fate, many large firms such as Renault of France shut down their assembly plants in Israel.

Mahjoub said 67 firms from various countries have applied to be taken off the black list and have provided documents proving the termination of their association with Israel. These applications will be decided at the Qatar conference, he said.

In Tel Aviv, an army spokesman reported fresh border clashes between Israeli and Jordanian troops while the military leaders of both countries appeared on a British television program Monday night. The spokesman said two Israeli soldiers were wounded in brief skirmishes and another was wounded when his jeep ran over a mine in the occupied west bank of the Jordan River.

In separate interviews with the British Broadcasting Corp., anchor of the Jordan River.

In separate interviews with the British Broadcasting Corp., King Hussein of Jordan welcomed Big Four moves toward a Middle East peace settlement and Israeli Defense Minister Moshe Dayan said: "Peace cannot be imposed on anybody."

Dayan reiterated the Israeli contention that the only way to get peace would be direct talks with the Arabs. He said Israel had no intention of relinquishing territories it occupied in the 1967 war, would retain the strategic town of Sharm el Sheikh at the head of Tiran strait and would not relinquish administrative control of Jerusalem.

Hussein warned that Israeli attempts to retain Jerusalem would mean that "the city of peace could once again become a battlefield." He said the only solution to the crisis was Israeli acceptance of the U.N. Security Council resolution of Nov. 22, 1967, which among other things called on Israel to relinquish occupied territories.

The actions are part of an emerging trend of workers, students and other groups banding together in defense of freedoms lost when Soviet tanks rolled into Czechoslovakia last August.

The trade union newspaper Prace said in an article last week: "The working class has taken the fate of socialism with a human face into its own hands and has become the principal guarantor of post-January polity."

One thing workers learned to like before August was a relatively open press that contained criticism and opposing views.

The protests, strike threats and demands voiced by groups attacking Smrkovsky shared a common wish for more information from party leaders and for an end to "manipulation."

The million-strong Metal Workers Union, after hearing Smrkovsky say he accepted a party decision that he become deputy chairman of the new Federal Assembly, decided it would not strike.

The Metal Workers Union pointedly told the leadership, however, that it deserved the right to strike when its vital in-couple of substantial breaks on his income tax return.

If he holds his investment for more than six months before selling at a profit, only one-half his capital gain is taxable.

During his holding period he frequently receives cash dividends on his stock shares. Not all the dividends are taxable.

This is another of the so-called "exclusions," or sums that are exempt from tax.

Tax law provides that the first $100 in dividends from qualifying corporations (generally all U.S. companies, with the exception of real estate investment trusts and farm co-operatives) is tax-free. On joint returns the dividend exclusion applies to the first $100 received by each or $200 if the stock is held jointly.

There is a hitch here which trips many taxpayers. Jointly held stock automatically qualifies for the full $200 treatment. But in the case of securities owned individually by a husband and wife, one spouse may not pick up any part of the other's unused $100 exclusion.

Owners of the popular mutual fund shares should examine carefully their annual dividend statements from their mutual fund before making their entries on their tax returns.

Mutual funds frequently make three types of distributions during the course of a year, or credit these sums to your account and perhaps reinvest them for you.

The distributions may consist of cash dividends, capital gain dividends and nontaxable distributions.

The sum total is first reported in the dividend section of your tax return. Then the subtractions are made. The capital gain dividends are first removed, because they will be inserted elsewhere where only 50 per cent of the dividends will be taxable. The nontaxable distributions are removed since they represent a partial return of your own capital upon which you already have paid a tax. There remains, then, only the cash dividends.

This is the amount which is then subjected to the $100 exclusion.

The capital gain dividends will be entered later in Schedule D—if one is used to record capital gains and losses—where it is subject to the preferred capital gains tax, or, if there is no Schedule D with your return, report it as miscellaneous income on Form 1040. When you do the latter, enter it as one-half capital gain dividend, making sure you include as income only one-half of the full amount received.

Senior Citizens—those who have reached their 65th year—no longer receive all the special advantages they once did on their income tax return. ments for Medicare. The regular hospital tax which is included in the Social Security tax is not deductible, however.

If of the major tax opportunities enjoyed by those 65 and older occurs when they sell their home at a profit. To qualify for this special privilege the property sold must have been owned by them and used as their principal residence for at least five of the eight years prior to the sale.

If these requirements are met and the home is sold for an adjusted sales price of $20,000 or less, there is no tax on the gain, regardless how large.

The adjusted sales price is the gross selling price less the total of "fixing up" expenses and selling expenses.

The former are those costs incurred to make your home more salable. They must have been made within 90 days prior to the sale and paid for within 30 days after the sale.

Selling expenses include real estate commissions, advertising expense, escrow and legal fees in connection with the sale.

If the adjusted sales price is more than $20,000 the amount of profit which is tax exempt is the ratio between $20,000 and the adjusted sales price.

If that definition sounds complicated, a practical example should illustrate the point. Assume the home was sold at a $15,000 profit with a gross sales price of $35,000. Fixing-up and selling expenses totaled $5,000.

The latter two expenses reduce the adjusted sales price to $30,000. Since $20,000 is two-thirds of $30,000, two-thirds of the $15,000 profit, or $10,000, is tax exempt. Only $5,000 would be subject to long-term capital gain profit.

Cats Seek Revenge on DeQueen

By RALPH ROUTON
Star Sportswriter

Back in December the De Queen Leopards of District 7-A overran the Hope Bobcats 70-50. The Cats get another chance tomorrow night at Jones Field House, in a final battle of a three-game set starting at 6 p.m.

Presently Hope stands at 4-9 for the season, but one could only see improvements ahead for this Bobcat squad. They haven't played a single team whom they couldn't have beaten, and no opponent besides Magnolia has run up an indecent halftime score.

Since that 70-50 defeat at De Queen, Hope has come a long way offensively. Six Bobcats have an average of six or more points a game, but the defense is still suspect.

In the first meeting the Cats used a man-to-man setup which the Leopards beat with good outside shooting and plenty of easy fast-break baskets. This week, with more practice time than in previous days, Hope has worked chiefly on defense.

What comes from that drilling will show most if and when the Bobcats employ a pressing defensive formation. In recent games this has been unsuccessful, as has been the man-to-man.

Center Jim Singleton leads the Cats with a 12.1 scoring average, and this figure will probably have to improve when district play resumes. Ricky Putman has shot for 11.3 ppg, mostly on jump shots and free throws, but he has been ineffective because of the flu since returning from the Christmas break.

Behind those two comes forward James Simmons, who is averaging 8.6, and Danny Reyenga at 7.9. Simmons will have to be more effective along the base line, and Reyenga is in the middle of a hot spate giving him at 15.5 average in 4-AA West competition.

Also sidelined with the flu has been Terry Turner (7.6), who is among the best on the team at driving to the basket and drawing fouls. Junior forward Ronny Brown has netted a 6.7 ppg. median while acting mostly as a sixth man and part-time starter.

After tomorrow night's non-conference duel with DeQueen, the Bobcats return to 4-4A play in full earnest. Next Friday night (24th) will bring the Arkadelphia Badgers to Jones Field House, with the loser in that one in bad shape on the Western Division standings. As of now both Hope and the Badgers stand 0-2 in divisional competition.

The following evening, Saturday the 25th, sends the Big Cats to Fairview to face the highly-vaunted Cardinals, now unbeaten at 15-0 for the season.

Both those games will be preceded by junior boys' contests, and the Hope Bobkittens should fare with the best come tournament time. Coach Jim Jordan has led the Kittens from years of 4-15 and 5-17 to a 4-5 mark entering the DeQueen game.

High school football in Arkansas should be more exciting next fall, with the addition of the two-point option after touchdowns. This rule was already in effect in Texas high schools, and it makes a late 7-0 score look much more interesting.

Some coaches have viewed the change with mixed emotions, but it will add more appeal for fans. Bobcat Head Coach Ronnie Higgins said yesterday that he liked the rule, and this writer seconds that loudly.

Another switch is the widening of goal posts to 23 feet, four inches, presenting a target five feet wider. Schools by option in the next two years may take advantage of the new rule which aids kickers, but it will become mandatory for all schools in 1971.

The off-season football program is in full swing with weight-lifting and agility drills keeping

'No' for Her Ambition to Be Jockey

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "I'm going to ride and ride and ride. And I'll make it someday," Barbara Jo Rubin said.

But she was disappointed Wednesday.

Male jockeys thwarted her effort to become the first girl rider in American thoroughbred racing history. Now the petite 19-year-old blonde says she's determined to carry on her fight, to take it to court if necessary.

Dressed in the gold and red silks she had hoped to wear in the fourth race at Tropical Park Wednesday, Barbara Jo told newsmen: "I didn't expect this at all. I was all ready to go. The male jockeys were so nice to me this morning."

Fighting back tears, she added: "I think there were just a few of them who seemed to be against me. But I'm going to try and I hope I'll be the first woman to race some day."

About 100 male jockeys threatened a mass boycott at Tropical if the former exercise girl were allowed to ride a horse named Stoneland in the fourth race.

After a stormy meeting in the jockey room, the 11 jockeys in the third race refused to come out unless Barbara Jo was removed from her horse.

Trainer Bryan Webb bowed to the pressure and broke the news to Barbara Jo.

"Barbara, honey," he said. "You're stuck. You ain't gonna ride." Webb explained "it was a case of taking her off or calling the race off."

Attorney Robert H. Burns of the American Civil Liberties Union talked with Barbara Jo and her father, a Miami tavern owner, and said he would go to court charging interference with the right of contract.

Burn said he would name each jockey in the third and fourth races and the Jockeys Guild as a group if collusion could be proved. He said he also will consider federal action if it could be proved that anti-trust laws had been violated.

Saul Silberman, owner of Tropical Park, said it was useless to argue after the male jockeys took their action.

"The jockeys felt there were two problems," Silberman said. "Danger to life and danger to their livelihood. A lot of the boys don't get too many mounts. The more riders, the less chance there is of making a living."

Racing Commission Chairman L. B. Walker said the commission will inquire into the situation.

Trainer Webb replaced Miss Rubin with Jorge Velasquez, who finished ninth on Stoneland at odds of 3-1. The horse had been listed at 12-1 in the morning line with Barbara Jo aboard.

— Big John Gordy, who led a bitter players' revolt in the National Football League last summer, is retiring as a member of the Detroit Lions.

His new position: Executive Director of the NFL Players Association, a newly created post.

Gordy, as president of the association in 1968, spearheaded a players' demand for a better pension plan and other benefits.

A threatened boycott almost wrecked the staid old league before the exhibition season began.

Gordy's retirement after 11 years as a star offensive guard for Detroit, and his selection as executive director, came as the NFL players group and the American Football League Players Association, ended their joint winter meeting Wednesday night.

The new president, kicking specialist Jim Bakker of the St. Louis Cardinals, declared Gordy "will have our full support in the coming year."

"I humbly accept this position and I will continue to carry out the progressive policies established by the players association," Gordy said.

When the threatened players' strike was averted in mid-July, a spokesman for NFL owners said the settlement would cost $3 million for the years 1968-69 for pension benefits, administrative costs and related matters.

The players association main office will remain in Detroit, Lee Vance, public relations director, said.

Quakers Spill 9th-Ranked Villanova

By HERSCHEL NISSENSON
Associated Press Sports Writer

The Wildcats of Villanova ran afoul of the cool cats of Pennsylvania Wednesday night.

The result was a Penn slowdown that left Villanova Coach Jack Kraft doing a slow burn after the unheralded Quakers upset the ninth-ranked Wildcats 32-30.

The only other team in The Associated Press Top Ten-tosee action was the fourth-ranked Davidson Wildcats, who scratched out a 90-82 triumph over stubborn Wake Forest.

A long jump shot by sophomore Steve Bliski with three seconds left gave Penn its dramatic victory and saddled Villanova with its second loss in 12 starts.

The Quakers froze the ball after Villanova's high-scoring Howard Porter, who managed only three points all night, missed a free throw with 3:35 remaining. Villanova stayed in its zone and finally Penn called time out with 26 seconds left and again five seconds later.

"The play was set up for either me or Dave Wohl to take a jumper," Bliski explained. "I looked at the clock and saw there were only seven seconds left. It was a little further out than I usually shoot from, but I knew there wouldn't be time to set up a better shot."

Coach Dick Harter, who resorted to the slowdown several times in the past, was ecstatic.

"I can't believe it," he said. "Villanova's the best team we've played since I've been here."

Ecstatic doesn't quite describe Kraft's feelings.

"What can I say?" he wailed. "I tried everything I could to make them play, but they wouldn't. I'm not about to fault Dickin it's what he felt he had to do to win, and he won."

"I feel bad for our kids, I feel bad that we lost that way. I would have liked it better if we'd gotten bombed. But that's the game of basketball. You've got to expect everything. The more riders, the less chance there is of making a living."

Racing Commission Chairman L. B. Walker said the commission will inquire into the situation.

KEY BISCAYNE, Fla. (AP) - President-elect Nixon worked and relaxed in privacy and public today, as he has since coming to his Florida hideaway two days ago.

Press aide Bruce Whelihan said Nixon was at work on his inaugural address, with the assistance of two newly arrived staff members, Miss Rose Mary Woods, his personal secretary, and Raymond K. Price, a special assistant and speechwriter, arrived Wednesday.

Nixon had no comment on President Johnson's budget, sent to Congress Wednesday, and Whelihan said there would be none. The President-elect and the man he will succeed Monday talked on the telephone for about 40 minutes Tuesday night. Johnson placed the call to Nixon.

AP Strike Is Ended by Guild

NEW YORK (AP) - United Telegraph Workers union members were to return to work in Associated Press bureaus throughout the country today as members of the striking Wire Service Guild voted on a new management proposal to end their walkout.

UTW members had honored Guild picket lines since the walkout started a week ago, Wednesday night, after a federal mediator in Washington had announced the vote on the new management proposal, George J. Kleinman, general chairman of the Associated Press Division 14 of the UTW, issued this statement:

"The members of the United Telegraph Workers are returning to work at The Associated Press at 8 a.m. local time Thursday, Jan. 16, because we feel that the utw has made the contribution it had intended to make to collective bargaining between The Associated Press and the Wire Service Guild."

"The deadlock has been broken, and the bargaining has progressed to the extent that a proposal is now before the Guild. "We believe that our contribution, which was made possible by the loyal and united support of our membership, has been of very substantial benefit and we hope settlement."

ate its basic news and photo services in all states and throughout the world.

A Guild spokesman said the union hoped to complete the vote by 6 p.m. tonight. The Guild negotiating committee recommended rejection of the new AP offer, saying: "Our position is that this proposal does not achieve the goals for which our members voted to strike but it does represent the greatest gift that could be made at the bargaining table at this time."

The announcement that Guild members would vote on a new AP offer was made by Walter A. Maggiolo, disputes director of the Federal Mediation and Conciliation Service, after three days of extensive discussions with both sides in Washington.

The new proposal adhered to the $250 weekly top minimum for newsmen, photographers and some other employees, offered at the start of the strike in the third year of the contract. The new offer did not include the modified Guild shop which had been one of the Guild's demands.

The AP's new offer, in mediation, added these new benefits to its prestrike offer:

- Reduction in the work week from 40 to 37½ hours for employees on night, overnight and Sunday duty.

- An additional holiday, increasing the number to eight.

- A cost-of-living allowance based on any rise in the 1970 index above 4.7 per cent. For each 1 per cent the index rises above 4.7 during 1970, employees on scale or receiving a general increase would receive a 1 per cent increase in 1971.

- An increase of $2 in monthly hospitalization benefits.

- Increased vacation benefits, with employees getting three weeks after four years and four weeks after nine years. They now get three weeks' vacation after five years and four weeks after 10 years.

The Guild's last proposal before the strike sought a top minimum of $264 and maintenance of present union membership plus a requirement that eight of 10 new employees must join the union.

the same deflationary pressures that followed the Korean War.

While not predicting any date for an end to hostilities in Vietnam, the committee of top White House advisers based estimates on an assumption that the transition to peace could be essentially completed by July 1, 1971 - in other words, the start of the 1972 fiscal year.

The report said that if the current 10 per cent income tax is still in effect when the fighting ends, earlier phase-out of the tax could help offset any recession and promote healthy economic growth. It also urged that a detailed plan to speed up government spending on high priority projects be prepared to cushion the impact of the transition from a war to peace economy.

The report of the Cabinet committee, under preparation since March 1967, carried the signatures of Defense Secretary Clark Clifford, Treasury Secretary Joseph Barr, Commerce Secretary C. R. Smith, Labor Secretary Willard Wirtz, Budget Director Charles J. Zwicky and Chairman Arthur M. Okun of the President's Council of Economic Advisors.

Anticipating that the U.S. economy will be generating more than $1 trillion - one thousand billion - by 1972, the report said the cost of the Vietnam war has been a load for the U.S. economy to carry, and not a prop supporting it.

"Prosperity has not depended on the defense buildup and will not need high military spending to support it in peace time," the report said.

WASHINGTON (AP) - A Cabinet-level report to President Johnson warns that the United States faces a possible recession when the Vietnam war ends, and urges that the government be ready with an action plan to stop it.

The report, sent to Congress today by the President, said the economy would be subjected to cent increase in 1971.

- An increase of $2 in monthly hospitalization benefits.

- Increased vacation benefits, with employees getting three weeks after four years and four weeks after nine years. They

now get three weeks' vacation after five years and four weeks after 10 years.

The Guild's last proposal before the strike sought a top minimum of $264 and maintenance of present union membership plus a requirement that eight of 10 new employees must join the union.

On the point of a modified Guild shop, Wes Gallagher, general manager of The Associated Press, said: "The AP firmly believes that if it is to maintain its standards of objectivity in the eyes of the reading public - which is essential - it cannot force its news employees into any organization, including a union."

At yesterday's regular meeting of the Hope Kiwanis Club George Frazier installed some new members and welcomed several guests.

don Renshaw, Charles Tarpley and Ben Edwards.

Special guests were Jorge Nassar, Tom White and Charles Yarbrough, all of Prescott and Dr. Spencer Holt of Arkadelphia.

Modern man began to appear in appreciable numbers in Europe between 25,000 and 30,000 years ago, it is believed.

The AP has continued to operate.

We are indebted to the staff of the Bridge World magazine for today's hand. A page and a half was used for theoretical discussion of which spades East should play from his queen-jack-10-eight combination.

North's four-heart bid was invented by the Four Aces back in the '30s. It shows good trump support but denies any ace or king. South's jump to six hearts is based on the hope that his partner will hold the queen of spades.

West gets off to the inspired lead of his singleton trump. South wins in his hand. If he makes the equally inspired play of the spade king, he will make his slam easily because West won't be able to lead a second trump. However, South leads a low spade and, according to the Bridge World experts, it will be a cinch for East to see that he must win with a spade honor, not an eight.

Then he leads a second trump. South will win and lead a second small spade. He will ruff in dummy and East must play another of his spade honors. South will enter his hand with a minor suit ace and will have a problem. If he plays another low spade he will knock out West's ace and make the hand but if East has played the correct honors. South may decide that East started with queen-jack-10 and lead his king in the hope of bumping the ace and the last honor to boot.

The Bridge World consensus was that East's best chance to get South to make that play would be to play first the queen, then the 10. Our own opinion is that the whole discussion is pointless. No matter which cards East plays, South's best line is to hope that the ace will drop and to keep playing low spades.

Shellfish Poacher Arrested at Scene, Underwater, But Yes Pact Meet

ST. PETER PORT, Channel Islands (AP) — David Kempthorne-Ley was engaged in an illegal act 45 feet below the surface of the sea when the long, wet arm of the law tapped him on the shoulder.

It was a historic moment—Britain's first underwater arrest.

Police Constable David Archer, wearing a skindiver's suit with mask and goggles, signaled Kempthorne-Ley to the surface and promptly charged him with poaching.

The 32-year-old culprit was fined the equivalent of $48 Wednesday for poaching oysters, a local shellfish regarded as a rare delicacy in Guernsey, one of Britain's Channel Islands.

Under an old Guernsey law it is illegal to collect oysters except for four days from the start of a full moon.

The court heard this account of the case:

Constable Archer, whose hobby is skindiving, got a tip that a spot of oyster was going on at the bottom of St. Peter Port's harbor. So he donned his frogman's outfit and went down to investigate.

"I started swimming along the sea bed and saw a man using a hook to get oysters off a rock," the constable said. "He never saw me coming so I tapped him on the shoulder and beckoned him to the surface. When we got there I told him who I was and that I was doing this for illegal poaching."

"He was quite good humored about it, but his first reaction was unprintable."

Apart from fining Kempthorne-Ley, the Guernsey magistrates confiscated his oyster hook and his oyster net. But there's a good chance that he'll get them back before the next full moon, when a man can go poaching without breaking the law.

Sterilization of Mentally Low Asked

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — A bill that would require persons with an intelligence quotient of less than 50 to submit proof of sterilization when they apply for a marriage license was introduced in the Arkansas Senate Wednesday.

Sen. Richard Earl Griffin, 29, a Crosscut attorney, said the alternative under his bill would be not to marry.

The senator said the bill was designed to relieve the burden of the Welfare Department in caring for the mentally retarded.

"These people are unable to properly care for their children," Griffin said. "And, normally the children they have are mentally retarded."

Griffin's measure requires that any person who applies for a marriage license submit proof that his intelligence quotient is not less than 50. Such proof would be made by submitting a certificate from a person qualified to administer standard mental and psychological tests prepared and approved by the state Board of Education.

If the intelligence quotient is less than 50, Griffin's bill provides that the applicant show proof of sterilization by submitting a certificate from a licensed physician.

Griffin said the bill had been introduced in "cooperation" with state Welfare Commissioner Len Blaylock.

Blaylock said he had a conversation recently with Griffin about child welfare problems, but he said he didn't know whether he would advocate sterilization.

The commissioner said, however, that he had heard of one country—he believes it is Norway—in which sterilization has materially reduced the number of mentally retarded children that have been born."

"There are quite a lot of moral issues mixed up in this thing," Blaylock said. "I don't know just how the public will react, but I will have to say this, Mr. Griffin is pointing a finger at a problem and suggesting a way to solve it."

A 78-page military code bill was introduced for the administration by Sens. Max Howell of Little Rock and John F. Gibson Sr. of Dermott. The bill recodifies state militia provisions, some of which have not been revised since 1929.

King's Name Applauded in Georgia

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., received tribute in death that he was never given in life when the Georgia State Senate applauded some of those closest to him.

It was part of ceremonies commemorating what would have been King's 40th birthday Wednesday.

Sen. Horace Ward, who attended Northwestern University instead of the University of Georgia because he is a Negro was applauded when he extolled King as a great man of the time.

But not all of the birthday observances were peaceful.

A call for a moment of silence at the Illinois University Chicago campus touched off a clash, a university spokesman said, between about 75 Negro students and an equal number of whites.

Eleven students were treated at the University Health Center, and one student was hospitalized with head lacerations. Police broke up the melee.

In Atlanta, Ward quoted in the Senate from King's speech at the Lincoln Memorial in Washington:

"I have a dream that one day on the red hills of Georgia the sons of former slaves and the sons of slave owners will be able to sit down together at the table of brotherhood..." Several African diplomats were in the senate chamber.

The visitors included King's father, the Rev. Martin Luther King Sr., and Mrs. Rosa Park, whose refusal to step to the rear of a city bus touched off the Montgomery, Ala., bus boycotts.

A four-hour memorial service at Ebenezer Baptist church, where King shared the pulpit with his father, was attended by more than 1,000 persons.

The Rev. Ralph D. Abernathy, who succeeded King as head of the Southern Christian Leadership Conference, pleaded "I call upon the forces of good will throughout the land to exert their total influence in seeing to it that the life of James Earl Ray or whoever is proven to have pulled the trigger... is spared." Ray is charged with King's slaying.

Afterwards, 2,000 persons walked 2½ miles to a groundbreaking ceremony for the $2.5 million Martin Luther King Jr. village, a lowrent housing project.

Mrs. King earlier in the day announced two memorials to her slain husband—one near his church. The other, near Atlanta University Center where he attended Morehouse College, will include the Institute for Nonviolent Social Change, an Institute for Afro-American Studies, a library and archives and a museum of Afro-American life and culture.

The library and the institute for Afro-American Studies will cost $25 million to $40 million at the outset. The money is coming from donations and foundation grants.

Details of the memorial near the church were not announced. Sen. Edward M. Brooke, R-Mass., the only Negro in the U.S. Senate offered a resolution to designate Jan. 15 as a day to recognize King's accomplishments.

Sen. Leroy Johnson of Atlanta, a Negro, said he plans to sponsor a resolution in the Georgia Senate which would establish Jan. 15 as a state holiday, but he said he doubts that it will pass.

In New York, Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, Mayor John V. Lindsay and Manhattan borough President Percy E. Sutton signed a petition urging the President and Congress to make King's birthday a national holiday.

New York schools held memorial services and in Pittsburgh any student with written permission from his parents was excused from public school for the day.

"There are quite a lot of moral issues mixed up in this thing," Blaylock said. "I don't know just how the public will react, but I will have to say this, Mr. Griffin is pointing a finger at a problem and suggesting a way to solve it."

A 78-page military code bill was introduced for the administration by Sens. Max Howell of Little Rock and John F. Gibson Sr. of Dermott. The bill recodifies state militia provisions, some of which have not been revised since 1929.

France Is Absent From Yes Pact Meet

By CARL HARTMAN
Associated Press Writer

B R U S S E L S, Belgium (AP) — Defense ministers from the nations of the Atlantic Alliance met today to approve the goals they want their armed forces to meet over the next five years.

The French tricolor was among the 15 flags hoisted at entrance to the headquarters of the alliance, although France was not represented at the meeting.

The new goals include modest increases of men and war material pledges by the members in the face of the Soviet-led invasion of Czechoslovakia last year.

U.S. Army and Air Force maneuvers now being held in West Germany — Reforger I and Crested Cap — are part of the additional American contribution.

Some of the increased contributions are difficult to evaluate ership under Democratic presidents have come to an end. In the alliance, and its defense ministers look forward to a greater European contribution during the presidency of Richard M. Nixon.

The Ministers are holding a one-day session behind closed doors at headquarters of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

Figures released today showed defense spending by members other than the United States decreased from $23,053,000,000 in 1967 to an estimated $22,606,000,000 last year. West Germany, a pillar of the alliance in Western Europe, cut its spending from $5,348,000,000 to $5,081,000,000.

Friends of the alliance hope the Soviet occupation of Czechoslovakia reversed this trend. At a meeting last November, member nations vied with one another to pledge new contributions. How far this will go in practice remains to be seen. It depends on what national parliaments decide.

Today the defense ministers in money: The assignment of a British aircraft carrier from the Pacific to the Mediterranean, for example. But Ambassador Harlan Cleveland, permanent U.S. representative in NATO, says that for the first time in its history the bulk of the added effort is being provided by the European members.

WASHINGTON (AP) — The government said Wednesday its cupboard is overflowing with uranium and it would like the uranium industry to ease up on deliveries for awhile.

The commission believes that a moderate reduction in deliveries can be achieved on terms which would be mutually advantageous to the contractors and the government.

The AEC said its commitment to purchase uranium under the contracts — which terminate Dec. 31, 1970 — exceeds its present needs, "largely because of previous cutbacks in military requirements for fissionable materials."

ROCKING HORUS statue may make archeological history. British archeologist Walter Emery examines the gold-bronze statue of the ancient fertility goddess Isis holding the child Horus on her knees. The figure of the child can be rocked to and fro, making the statue the second such "moving" Egyptian one found. Emery unearthed the treasure near the Saqqara Pyramid southwest of Cairo.

HELEN HELP US!

by Helen Bottel

NO GENERATION GAP HERE

Dear Helen: Cheers for the girl who doesn't believe there is really a generation gap, except the kind that has always been with us. I too believe that. I came to college three and one-half months ago, and the thing I miss most about home is my 70-year-old girl friend, a next door neighbor, I love her.

I also miss my other neighbors, my parent's friends, and of course — my parents. I miss all the talks I used to have with my mother and dad, and the discussions with other adults. It is true that one can learn by others' experiences, and my "old" friends have plenty to tell. I didn't think I'd ever write to a column, but I want you to know I'm another teen who has crossed the generation gap. — ALICE

Dear Alice: You aren't alone. Read on. — H.

Dear Helen: Generation gap? I haven't had a real fight with my folks since I can remember. They don't holler at or ground us kids. They talk to us like adults and don't pick us apart.

The only fights at our house are between us kids, and our parents don't usually interfere unless a fracas starts to get out of hand. Then we're glad to have them break it up.

Another outstanding feature of my folks is that they trust us. So much, in fact, that for two years now they have left us alone for four or five days while they go on trips occasionally.

In return for their love and trust, we kids love and respect them. We wouldn't ever let them down, Helen. I don't know how many kids feel this way about their parents, but if they do, they should say so, loud and clear, so this yap about the generation gap would quiet down. — SUE

Dear Helen: I've heard that a popular guy at school takes birth control pills. What use are they to him? Would they keep his date from getting pregnant? — NOT HIS DATE

Dear Not: If the boy takes The Pill under his doctor's supervision, he is probably being treated for acne.

If he is taking them on his own, he may be a fast operator with the wrong information. There is no such thing as a sterility pill for males. — H.

Dear Helen: I am living with my aunt as my divorced mother travels in her job. Mom sent me $300 for school, I spent $100 and asked my aunt to put the rest in the bank for me. I've been giving her $15 a week from my part time job to bank for me too. I've kept track and I should have $225 in the bank. Well, I went in to draw some money out the other day, and our joint savings account had exactly $85 in it. I asked my aunt and she said something came up she needed the money for, and besides, she was taking care of me, so I shouldn't mind. My mother pays her a good bit for my room and board. What should I do? — POOR

Dear Poor: Let's suppose your aunt is a borrower, not a thief. Suggest that she replace the money from the sum your mother sends her for your keep — and if she balks, your mother will hear of it. — H.

4-Year Term
for Public Office
Makes Sense

Many times this editor has been on a collision course with the Arkansas Association of County Judges—as, for instance, when it proposed to divert tax funds to the support of a legislative lobby for the counties—but the judges have one upcoming proposition which we'll heartily support.

A news item in today's edition reports that Crawford County Judge Milton Willis of Van Buren will introduce at the association's annual convention in Little Rock Jan. 21-22 a resolution calling for a four-year term for county judges.

That makes sense—both political and economic.

In the best-managed states the two-year term was long ago lengthened to four years. The two-year term is defended on the grounds it keeps office-holders close to the people—so close, critics point out, that officials don't have time to administer public office properly.

A man is no sooner elected than he's compelled to "politic" for re-election. A four-year term, on the other hand, gives him time to prove whether or not he is a good administrator.

If I sense public opinion correctly a great many citizens are firm in the belief we have too many elections nowadays—too many campaigns and not enough time spent on actual administration of government, which is the true objective of every election.

There are those citizens, of course, who delight in the momentary self-importance of being a vote-yielding power—but a sharp critic is bound to observe that responsibility isn't upon the candidates alone; it also rests on citizens to vote wisely. If they vote hastily and unwisely theirs is a mistake unless they should be compelled to live for a minimum of four years.

Not all editors will take this view. Some, I regret to say, allow self-interest to color their thinking on the public interest. Some relish the extra campaign advertising that the two-year term sometimes produces.

But to any newspaper worth its salt campaign advertising is a negligible percentage of its income. The biggest campaign expenditure on record is less than half a month's business—and something that rolls around only every 24 months doesn't help much in meeting the newspaper payroll, believe me.

Political advertising looks big to the reader because it is bunched in a few weeks—but actually any business-like editor would forego all political copy for just one major commercial account advertising every week. That's what carries the weekly payroll.

The Star stands squarely behind the judges in their anticipated proposal for a four-year term.

McClellan Backs Anti-Crime Bill

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. John L. McClellan, D-Ark., is the chief sponsor of a sweeping new anticrime bill, introduced in the Senate Wednesday, which is aimed at the "far-flung cartels of organized crime."

McClellan, who steered last year's crime control and safe streets bill through the Senate, was joined in introducing the legislation by Sen. Roman L. Hruska, R-Neb.

The bill, among other things, provides for 30-year sentences for habitual offenders, professional criminals and organized crime leaders.

McClellan said "today's power base of organized crime consists of 24 Cosa Nostra groups operating as criminal cartels in the major metropolitan areas of our nation."

State Tax Bills Seek 195 Million

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller presented the 67th General Assembly Wednesday with a dozen bills aimed at generating $195 million in new state revenue for the biennium, which begins July 1.

There were no surprises in the tax package and the governor said several other proposals would be presented later.

In a separate move, Rep. Ray S. Smith of Hot Springs, chairman of the House Revenue and Taxation Committee, was authorized by the committee to hold hearings next week on sales and use tax exemptions that already exist.

"We should look to our present tax structure to see if funds can be found through taxation and removal of exemptions or such courses as are available to meet these needs," Smith said.

As for Rockefeller's program, Smith said, "I think we are obliged to study his program thoroughly and make a judgment as to the validity and extent of the needs."

Rockefeller's package of bills included proposals to raise the sales tax and the use tax each by one per cent, although his program would provide rebates under some circumstances.

Other measures in the tax package would increase the rate of the state personal income tax and increase the personal credits by $2.50; eliminate personal tax credits for individuals whose income exceeds certain levels; make the corporate income tax a flat seven per cent; expand the sales tax to cover services; increase the cigarette tax by five cents per pack; place a 15 per cent tax on the wholesale price of cigars, little cigars, cigarillos and other tobacco products; increase the state tax on pari-mutuel betting from six to nine per cent; and place a documentary stamp tax of $1.50 per $500 value on the transfer of real estate.

In a message to the lawmakers, Rockefeller said, "Like you, we are still looking at certain of the exemptions in Mild temperatures are expected to continue in Arkansas through Friday.

However, colder temperatures are expected for the weekend. The forecast also includes light rain ending from the west late Friday.

Temperatures Wednesday climbed into the 60s in most areas.

Overnight lows ranged from 43 at Walnut Ridge to 56 at El Dorado. Rainfall reports for the 24-hour period ended at 6 a.m. ranged from a trace at Pine Bluff and Little Rock to .73 at Fort Smith.

Alaskan Reindeer to Be Flown to Rice Fields of Korea

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — Alaska reindeer—240 of them—will be flown this week in a Boeing 707 jet from Anchorage to their new home in the rice paddies of South Korea.

The animals have been flown to Anchorage from their barren Arctic home near Nome. Later this week, probably Saturday, they will be loaded on the jetliner for the trip across the Pacific.

South Korean businessmen are paying for the experiment, hoping the reindeer can adapt to the Korean climate and feed. They will be used for food and medicine.

Jung D. Wang, one of the shippers, said parts of the reindeer horns can be mixed with herbs as a tonic "something on the order of vitamins."

It was the first time he had missed a meeting in 22 years and it was designated a meeting to present him with a perfect attendance award.

Cadillac Dreams Not Suited to Chevrolet Economy, Says Critic

By ROBERT SHAW
Associated Press Writer

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — In Sen. Richard Earl Griffin's analogy, Arkansas can afford a Chevrolet but Gov. Winthrop Rockefeller seeks passage of his big tax package so the state can drive around in a Cadillac.

"As far as getting from one place to another, a Chevrolet does just as well," Griffin said. "The ride won't be as comfortable but Arkansas' economy can't afford a Cadillac. So we'll have to get where we are going with a Chevrolet."

Rather than buy all of Rockefeller's tax package, designed to raise $195 million in the next biennium, Griffin says he has a better idea, shared by some of his Senate colleagues: see if there are some existing tax exemptions that can be dropped.

Sen. Robert Harvey of Swift said he believed that many of the legislators would prefer that the general assembly repeal some exemptions. He and Sen. Thomas Penn of Cave City have introduced one measure, for instance, that repeals the use tax exemptions on public carriers, public utilities and public communications firms.

Harvey said the state Revenue Department estimates that it would bring in an additional $30 million a year, almost the same amount that would be raised by Rockefeller's proposal to increase the sales tax by one per cent.

Harvey said the legislature could raise as much as $50 million a year by repealing exemptions and enacting some parts of the governor's tax program.

He doesn't see much support for Rockefeller's sales or income tax measures, which would produce the most money, and doesn't believe the governor will get half his program.

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — The body of Mrs. Dwana Jennings, 27, of El Dorado was found Wednesday in the trunk of her car four miles south of herem.

Detectives said Mrs. Jennings, who had been missing since Jan. 5, had been strangled. The only marks on her body were burns around her neck, they reported.

Three women, one of whom had seen the car parked in a field Monday, investigated. They called police.

Mrs. Jennings, who had two daughters, was last seen Jan. 6 at an El Dorado hospital where she had gone to visit her sister-in-law.

Fulbright to Liberalize Race Policy

LITTLE ROCK (AP) — The Rev. Ben Grinage, a special assistant to Sen. J. W. Fulbright, D-Ark., says the senator will alter his position on racial issues in the future.

The Rev. Mr. Grinage said Fulbright's conservative voting record on civil rights legislation could be attributed to "practical politics as he saw it then."

Eight per cent of the herd are groceries.

John Aumstein of Redmond, Ore., known as king of the reindeer ranchers, was hired by the South Koreans to supervise the project.

Zumstein will fly with the reindeer to Seoul and is shipping three tons of special reindeer feed. That will last only two weeks, then Zumstein will ship a ton of his feed concentrate which can be mixed with native Korean feed.

Wang said he understood South Korean President Chung Hee Park would meet the reindeer at the Seoul airport.

Eight per cent of the herd are groceries. If the experiment appears to be working, another 200 reindeer will be flown to Korea next month and 600 next year.

If the water in the rice pad-

Reds Change Nation Prosperous, Says Johnson, But Admits to Problems

MOSCOW (AP) — Two Soviet cosmonauts transferred from one orbiting spaceship to another today, scoring a dramatic first for the Soviet space program.

The two space ships, Soyuz 4 and Soyuz 5, had linked up in orbit shortly before cosmonauts Yevgeny Khrunov and Alexei Yeliseyev made the transfer.

The official news agency Tass said they moved from Soyuz 4 to Soyuz 5, leaving Boris Volynov alone in Soyuz 4.

Radio Moscow said the two cosmonauts were outside the linked-up ships "about an hour."

Khrunov and Yeliseyev donned space suits just before the maneuver. Radio Moscow said the suits were equipped with a new life-support system.

"Thus Shatalov's two-day sojourn in orbit was over," Tass said.

Khrunov exited from Soyuz 5 and climbed aboard the companion ship above the territory of South America. Yeliseyev made his move over the Soviet Union.

"The condition of all cosmonauts is good," Radio Moscow said.

GOP Denies Budget Shows Surplus

By JACK BELL
Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Republicans in Congress are complaining that the $195.3 billion spending budget submitted to Congress by President Johnson will produce a deficit instead of the surplus that Johnson claimed.

Democrats, meanwhile, indicated they will wait to see President-elect Nixon's legislative program before they act to put Johnson's proposals for full funding of welfare programs into effect.

Senate Minority Leader Everett M. Dirksen of Illinois said his fellow Republicans are waiting to "get the figuring straight" before pouncing on Johnson's contention that his budget would give Nixon a $3.4 billion surplus in the fiscal year beginning July 1.

But Sen. Jack Miller, R-Iowa, a new member of the Senate Finance Committee, pinpointed the GOP's main objection. He said Johnson had counted as revenue surpluses being piled up in trust fund accounts for future Social Security and medicare benefits.

"What really counts," Miller said, "is the regular operating accounts. If deficits occur in these, they must be covered by increased federal borrowing the root cause of the inflation that has been sweeping the country."

"This is a deceptive budget," Sen. John G. Tower, R-Tex., a Senate Armed Services Committee member, said the course of the Vietnam war will have a heavy influence on the ability of the new administration to operate in the black.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said Johnson had taken "a courageous course" in recommending increased welfare spending, and "I hope that President Nixon will see the need for continuing programs to meet our domestic problems."

Kennedy, assistant Senate Democratic leader, and a possible candidate for his party's 1972 presidential nomination, said he thinks most Democrats will want to see Nixon's program before drafting any alternative proposals.

Frank Ramsey, Hope Water and Light Plant, has received letters from the Arkansas State Board of Health that the water supply of Hope and Oakhaven has met the U.S. Public Health Service quality standard during 1968. . . . Mr. Ramsey says this is the 10th consecutive year the area water supply has passed all test. . . . each month nine samples are taken from various locations in Hope and three from Oakhaven and sent to the Arkansas State Board of Health. . . . the letter states, "Your city may well be proud of this achievement."

At 10:30 a.m. Wednesday morning at E. Third and Walnut Sts., cars driven by James Tompkins and Leonard Goodwin collided, with little damage resulting. No charges were filed. Officer John Shirley investigated.

At 1:10 p.m. at Fifth and Greening Sts., cars driven by Barbara Piercy and Grant Davenport collided with minor damage resulting. No charges were filed by the investigating officer, Carl Ward.

Thursday morning at 6:30 a.m. a car driven by Edward Moody and a pulpwood truck driven by Eugene Griffin hit head-on at North Hazel and Avenue D. There was heavy damage to the car. No charges were filed by Officer James Neal.

Friday all students will be dismissed for the end of the first semester. . . . teachers will be on duty during the day to complete their records. . . . the second semester of school will start on regular schedule on Monday, January 20, says Supt. James H. Jones.

A&P still skeptical
about A&P brand
canned vegetables?

Incredible!

They're all Grade "A", you know, and labeled so.

Bet you don't know another brand that is.

Grade "A" . . . that's the best. You can't buy better.

You're still not sure?

Tell you what . . .

this week, buy a can of A&P Whole Small Green Beans.

Picked at a precise tender age, they are simply delicious.

You think this is just advertising talk?

Try them.

You'll get your money back if you don't think they're the best you ever tasted.

Is this a good reason for shopping A&P? It's one of many.

P.S. If you're not a string bean lover, pick any A&P Brand Canned Vegetable.

As we said, they're all Grade "A" . . .

all absolutely, unconditionally guaranteed.
